A magnificent flat forming part of this landmark, historic church conversion privately situated near Rouken Glen Park.

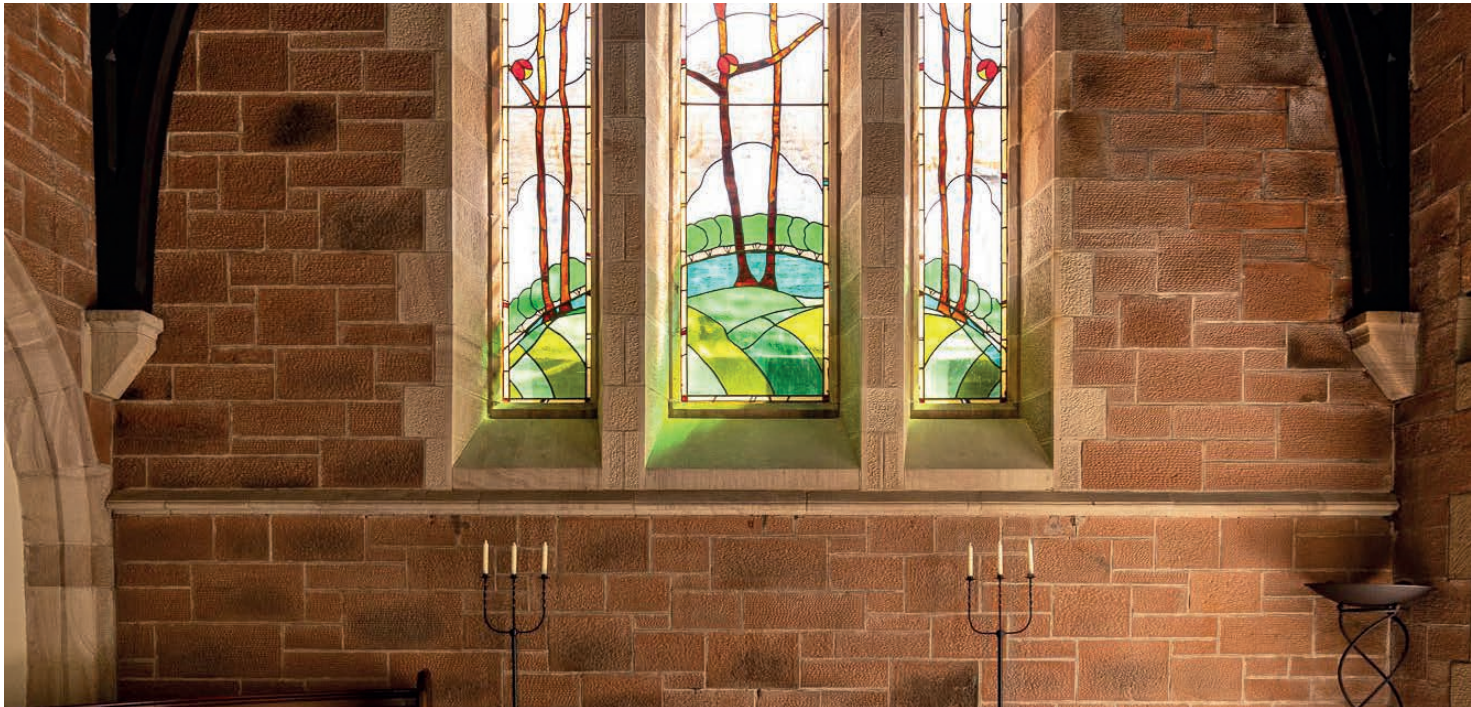

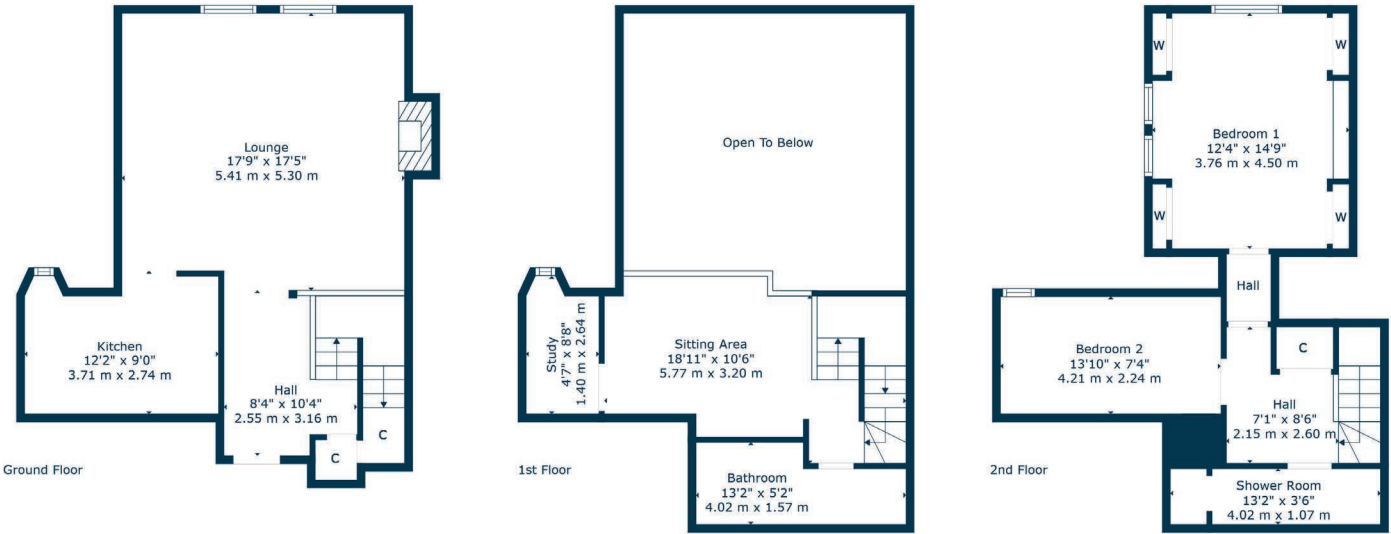

Corum are delighted to present to the market this two bedroom flat that forms part of an imaginative, historic church conversion completed in 1993 by Noah City Developments. The original church built circa 1891 displays outstanding architecture, decorative stonework and beautiful stained glass features.

Set within a private, secluded setting with residents' private parking, this apartment has a system of gas central heating and refitted windows including decorative stained glass features.

Entry to the building gained via security entrance leads into magnificent residents' entrance with exposed cathedral ceiling and outstanding stained glass features. The flat has a main door access into reception area with generous storage provided and the hallway leads into a magnificent lounge/dining area with captivating, vaulted ceiling and decorative arched windows including stained glass features. Exposed central beam adding to the sense of occasion with the living area having open access to a kitchen fitted with appliances. The first floor landing is a mezzanine area providing lovely sitting/study area which is currently used as a TV room and has access to a large walk in storage cupboard (ideal workstation), and this level also gives access to a modern bathroom. The second floor provides a spacious landing area which in turn gives access to two double sized bedrooms, principal with built in storage and feature exposed rafter ceiling and there is a shower room completing the accommodation on this floor.

The property has established, mature garden grounds which are highly private in addition to private residents' parking. The gardens provide areas for relaxing and taking in the mature surroundings.

Thornliebank is a suburban village south of Glasgow with excellent transport links via bus and train close at hand, in addition to local motorway links (M77/M8) providing swift access to the city centre and Ayrshire. There are two train stations within close proximity Thornliebank Train Station and Whitecraigs Train Station. There are numerous independent shops, restaurants and delicatessens and a myriad sports and recreational facilities a short distance away.
